Rotary Hears About Wills

B. N. HOLT PHOTO WITH STAR CAMERA

"Making a will is a sign of Christian maturity and shows emotional and mental stability," said Dr. William O. Scroggins when speaking before the Hope Rotary Club last Friday at the Town and Country. "Wills and Legacies" was the subject of the message by Dr. Scroggins, head of the Methodist Foundation of Arkansas. He spoke of the "stewardship of accumulated possessions," and he advised all to "tithe for eternity" and "in making a will count God among your loved ones."

Two pamphlets, "Peter Didn't Leave a Will" by Catherine Marshall and "Good Steward's Testament" by Michael Late Ben-edum, were given to each one attending the luncheon meeting. The Rev. R.B. Moore, Jr. arranged the program and introduced the speaker.

Club President Paul Klipsch had charge of the meeting and welcomed as guests the Rev. Alf Eason, Finis Odom, Judge Leslie Howard of Texarkana and one visiting Rotarian, Elmer Harris of Stamps.

Poll Shows Romney Over Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, bolstered by a poll in which he outran President Johnson, is expected to meet with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today in Puerto Rico to discuss strengthening the Republican party.

Romney arrived in San Juan Sunday for a two-week vacation. He said in a statement that recently elected Republican governors will be in a position to have more influence in national affairs and in the GOP.

Rockefeller met Friday in the Virgin Islands with Republican Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania. All Republican governors and governors-elect are expected to meet in December in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Romney, who won a third term Nov. 8, says he hasn't decided whether to seek the 1968 GOP presidential nomination. But Romney aides already are setting up Washington headquarters for a presidential drive.

Johnson 54 per cent to 46 per cent.

Johnson had nipped Romney 51 to 49 per cent in a Harris October poll. In this month's poll, said Harris, 43 per cent of persons calling themselves Republicans favored Romney as the GOP nominee.

Richard M. Nixon was second at 28 per cent and Rockefeller — who said prior to winning a third term that he was not interested in running again for president — was the choice of 12 per cent. Six per cent favored Sen.-elect Charles H. Percy of Illinois and 5 per cent Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan of California.

Johnson beat Nixon, Percy and Rockefeller each by 54 to 46 per cent and Reagan by 67 to 33 in Harris presidential trial heats.

Reagan said Sunday, however, that he has no intention of seeking the nomination.

On the ABC radio-television program "Issues and Answers," he added that it is too early "to evaluate who will rise above all to be the candidate."

PRODUCTION RISES
NEW YORK (AP) — Production of glass bottles and jars is expected to rise above the 30-billion mark in 1966 for the first time. The Glass Container Manufacturers Institute notes this is equivalent to 152 jars and bottles for every man, woman and child in the country.

Argument Could Cause a Big Rumpus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The old argument—that the federal government should keep its nose out of states' business so they can have more independence—is going to look pretty odd if an idea now gaining momentum causes a rumpus in Congress in 1967.

One of the ways in which the federal government helps states now is through grants-in-aid, meaning that if a state has a need for some specific program, which Washington approves, the government will give the state money to help pay the bill, provided the state matches the amount with money of its own.

The idea being battled around now—not new but with support of both the Democratic and Republican sides—is that the federal government should just hand over to the states some of the money it gets from taxes for the states to use for programs in which they don't have to match the federal help.

The idea has different shapes. Walter W. Heller and Joseph Pechman of the Brookings Institution have proposed one: massive federal grants to the states without strings attached.

Heller was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy before he resigned in 1964 to go back to teaching at the University of Minnesota. He has repeatedly made this kind of suggestion which Johnson so far has been unwilling to buy.

Then there are suggestions, made separately, by two Wisconsin members of the House, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, a Democrat, and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the Republican Conference Committee.

Last week Reuss proposed the federal government should hand over $5 billion a year for five years to the states, with no strings, except that the states would have to have programs to reorganize and modernize their state and local governments.

SHE'S NOT READY FOR A PRIVATE PHONE

Dear Helen: Our daughter, age 14, got a private phone in her room for her birthday — not an extension but a different number from ours. She promised she would not misuse it, and said she'd pay the bill from her baby-sitting.

Well that phone rings night and day. Sometimes she is talking at midnight. I don't know why the receiver doesn't start growing from her ear, it's there so much!

And somehow her baby-sitting money always goes for something else. She ignores the bills till we pay them, in desperation. We get tough and she straightens up for a couple of days, and then it's the same old jingle. — JANGLED NERVES (And what to do about them?)

Dear J.N.: "Excommunicate" her! Let the bills pile up for a couple of months and the phone company will end your worries. — H.

Dear Helen: What to do with twins, age 15, who hate each other's sight? They punch and fight — and one always gets the worst

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This week Jack L. Warner announced he was selling his one-third interest in the movie empire he and his brothers founded. The buyer: Seven Arts Productions. The price: an estimated $32 million.

The announcement by Warner's attorney, Louis Nizer, said the sale "was in accordance with Mr. Warner's plan ultimately to diminish his responsibilities." Yet the movie maker shows few signs of slowing the pace he has sustained for five decades.

His work day begins as early as 7 a.m. when he is on the telephone at his Angelo Drive home in Beverly Hills, talking to the New York office and to Warner Brothers outposts in other parts of the world. By mid-morning he is behind the desk of his studio office, the walls of which are covered with photos of Jack L.

Warner shaking hands with renowned figures.

In his office Warner abandons the clownish role by which Hollywood knows him from his public appearances. He is brisk and tough-minded in policy decisions.

At 1:30 p.m., he descends on the executive dining room, where he indulges in rallery with producers, directors and an occasional actor who is distinguished enough — James Stewart, Cary Grant, etc. — to eat with the top brass. Warner returns to his office and often remains at the studio until 11 or 12 if rough cuts or finished films have to be seen.

Who will succeed Warner as head of the show business empire?

At present there is no heir apparent. Son-in-law William T. Orr, periodically Warner's second in command, has left the studio. Warner's only son, Jack M. Warner, was barred from the studio eight years ago and remains estranged from his father.

or it. Sometimes I think they are jealous of the air each breathes. When they are served anything they count and see if each got the exact amount, even with peas! — FRUSTRATED MOTHER

Dear Mother: It would be an unusual family that didn't have "sibling rivalry" (polite, and kinda honkey, explanation of why the kids play tunes on each other's heads).

Twins sometimes get a double dose because they compete at the same time for the same goals — also they are often so much alike they recognize the bad in themselves mirror and resent it mightily.

When they fight, they may be striving for separate identities. Perhaps one or both can't stand the thought of being only half a set.

Try separating them as much as possible. Direct them toward different pursuits, different studies, different friends. They will probably outgrow this rivalry in a year or two when they mature and realize teard realize the only worthwhile person to compete with is — yourself! — H.

Dear Helen: My husband is an alcoholic. Don't suggest A. A. — he ENJOYS being a drunk. He uses his alcoholism as a whip to keep the children and myself in line. He humiliates us, beats us, keeps us penniless. He has reeled into classrooms at school making trouble, and has caused me to lose several good positions.

Our oldest child escaped into marriage at 16. But I have three children at home and no child should live like this. They have nightmares, two are bedwetters, nail biters and one is withdrawing from the world.

I took the children and left once. It was Heaven — I got a good job (am trained as telephone supervisor and have no trouble finding work) and my husband couldn't find me. But then I became seriously ill and the hospital notified him. He made us come home — his threats are frightening.

It has become worse since then. The other night he was roaring drunk as usual, and started punching me around. Usually I make the children go into the bedroom and lock their doors, but this time our oldest blew up. She flew at him, kicking and screaming and shouting, "I pray every night that you'll die!" Then the two younger ones came out and said, "We pray that too."

Helen, we can't go on like this. My husband won't change. Perhaps he's sick, but it's a sickness he doesn't want to cure. My children's welfare is more important, even than my life. I MUST leave, but how? He has made it so we have no money at all — we even have to beg for grocery money, from day to day.

I'd have to go a long ways off, or he would find us. Is there any organization that can help? — T.O.R.

Dear T: Surely you have friends in your small town, and surely one of them is brave enough to give you and the children a start toward a new life.

Another solution: Call a local lawyer and ask him the address

Georgia to Be Cotton Bowl Choice

DALLAS (AP) — The visiting team in the Cotton Bowl is due to be named today and all indications are that it will be Georgia.

Just who Georgia will meet, however, will have to wait developments.

The host team will be decided at Fort Worth Saturday when Southern Methodist goes after both the Southwest Conference championship and the home spot in the big game Dec. 31.

If Southern Methodist should lose, however, it would be Arkansas, which would tie the Cotton Bowl for the title and get the bowl spot by virtue of having beaten SMU during the season.

Field Scovell, co-chairman of the Cotton Bowl selection committee, is in Athens, Ga., obviously to extend the Cotton Bowl invitation to Georgia. He will do it at 10 a.m., the time set by the NCAA for making the bowl bids.

Should Georgia not come to the Cotton Bowl, the team that does will be taken from among Georgia Tech, Florida, Tennessee and Mississippi, unless those teams sign up for some other bowl.

Reportedly Georgia Tech and Florida are slated for the Orange Bowl and Mississippi or Tennessee for the Gator Bowl although there are some indications that Tennessee might go to the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston.

Which Southwest Conference team that might be invited to the Bluebonnet may be determined in the SMU-TCU clash at Fort Worth Saturday.

Arnie Palmer Is Something Very Special

By MURRAY ROSE
HOUSTON (AP) — When the Houston root for a millionaire over an average guy, then the moneybags man must be something special.

Arnie Palmer is something special. The personable, usually smiling golf pro had Arnie's Army rooting for him to win the $110,000 Houston Champions International Golf Tournament Sunday and he obliged by sinking a pressure-packed 12-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 18th hole to win by a stroke over Gardner Dickinson Jr.

An estimated crowd of 30,000 swarmed over the beautiful grounds of the immaculately groomed 7,118-yard par 36-35 layout of the Champions Golf Club and most of the spectators tried to follow Palmer on a perfect, summery day.

The 37-year-old son of a golf pro from Latrobe, Pa., has had his army since 1960 when he scored eight victories including triumphs in the Masters and the U.S. Open.

He amuses the fans with his quips, delights them with his facial expressions and hand gestures, tolerates their behavior and awes them with his tremendous drives and precision iron shots.

Palmer was sitting in the press room after his final round of 34-35—69 for 275, nine strokes under par, when Dickinson, a hungry-looking, 5-foot-11, 130-pounder who hadn't won a regular pro tournament since 1962, stroked to the 18th needing a par 4 to tie Palmer and force a sudden death playoff.

Dickinson, a 39-year-old Alabama native playing out of Lost Tree Village, Fla., got off a good drive on the 428-yard hole. He flubbed his second shot, however, sending it to the right.

He chipped weakly and was short of the green on his third. Then he chipped boldly from about 30 feet out. The ball slid about three inches past the hole.

Dickinson, the co-leader at the halfway mark and leader by one stroke over Palmer after three rounds, finished with an even par 36-35—71 for 276, eight under par.

Billy Casper, winner of the U.S. Open and the PGA's Player of the Year, and Jack Nicklaus each finished with even par 284. Casper with a final 72 and Nicklaus with a 74, good for a nine-way tie for 19th place.

Porkers Still Could Tie for the Title

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' domination of the Southwest Conference has ended with hopes of a third straight undisputed league title blown out the window by a sparkling performance by Texas Tech.

Arkansas, ranked sixth in the nation before falling 21-16 before the Red Raiders onslaught at Lubbock Saturday, can only wait idly by for the next week to see what its ultimate fate may be.

Everything hinges on the outcome of Saturday's Southern Methodist-Texas Christian clash at Fort Worth.

If the Mustangs win, they would register the conference title and a Cotton Bowl bid to battle Georgia on Dec. 31.

However, should hapless TCU upend the Ponies, Arkansas would gain a share of the title and get the bowl bid for having whipped SMU in regular season play.

Cotton Bowl officials were expected to hand the visitor's bid to Georgia this morning.

There had been speculation that Arkansas would go to the Gator Bowl to play Syracuse if SMU beat TCU. That now appears unlikely since the Gator is courting Tennessee, Mississippi and Miami for the vacancy.

It is probable that if Arkansas falls to land in the Cotton Bowl, it will bypass all bowls for only the third time in Frank Byrles' nine years here.

Everything was in the ready at Lubbock Saturday for Arkansas to nail down a third straight title and trip to Dallas.

But Tech, behind the great play of quarterback John Scovell, ended those hopes.

Arkansas built a 10-0 advantage on Bob White's 21-yard field goal and Jim Whisenand's nine-yard scoring run.

Then Tech went to work. Scovell cut the margin to 10-7 when he scored from the one in the second period.

Arkansas drove 55 in Tech territory and Jon Brittenum failed in two cracks, one from the four and the other from inches away.

Video replays indicated that Brittenum scored on both plays and the Porkers quarterback said he thought he "was in there pretty good."

However, Tech took over on the one and came out in the third period with great momentum.

The Raiders went ahead 14-10 when Scovell lofted a 20-yard touchdown pass to Larry Gilbert. Before Arkansas could regroup, Gene Darr intercepted a Brittenum pass and thundered 20 yards for a score that gave Tech a 21-10 advantage.

Arkansas rolled back to move 77 yards with Brittenum cracking over from the five. The Porkers had only one other possession in the final seven minutes and they failed to make a first down.

Broyles cited a number of things that placed in Porkers in a situation to be upset—among them so much Cotton Bowl talk, the mid-week death of tackle Claude Smith and the fact that Arkansas had been so high the week before in clubbing SMU 22-0.

"Mentally, a lot of things had distracted them and it had to affect their play," Broyles said.

He praised Tech and said he had not thought the Raiders could run through his team the way they did.

Now, all Arkansas can do is sit by a wait. Everything depends on TCU.

ROBERTO Clemente, who paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to a near-miss finish for the National League pennant this year, has been named the most valuable player in the NL by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Clemente edged out Sandy Koufax for the honor.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It will be Florida and Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl football game here Jan. 2.

Undefeated Tech and the once-beaten Gators receive the bids today from the Orange Bowl Committee.

"The teams involved should be obvious," Committee President John Ring told a news conference. For a week, the field had been narrowed to Tech-Gators and Alabama-Nebraska.

It was reported that third ranked Alabama and fourth ranked Nebraska preferred the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans. In the Orange Bowl a year ago, the Crimson Tide beat the Cornhuskers, 39-28.

Seniors Win Annual Puff Affair

BY RALPH ROUNTON

Saturday night at Hammons Stadium in the 3rd annual Powder Puff game the explosive Juniors gave the Seniors the battle of their lives before falling 20 to 14 in a thriller.

The undermanned Seniors struck first blow with Susan Fincher capping a 69 yard drive with a 20 yard dash to paydirt. PAT was good and it was 7-0 the Seniors.

Just two minutes later, however, the Juniors retaliated with Carol Anthony dashing 65 yards for a TD. PAT was good and it was 7-7 at the half.

It took the final play of the third quarter for Cindy Reese to run 30 yards and a score and the Seniors led 13-7.

Again the Juniors struck back with Carol Anthony rounding end and racing 78 yards for the TD. The PAT was good and with 5:21 showing the Juniors led 14-13.

The Seniors wouldn't quit and drove 58 yards with Cindy Reese scoring again, this time on an eight yard scamper. PAT was good and the score for the Seniors 20-14.

Before it was over the Juniors, with Carol Anthony's passes to Gail Hartsfield drove to the Senior 30. On the last play Anthony broke loose and went to the one foot line where she was pushed out of bounds as the game ended.

Leading rushers for the Seniors were Cindy Reese, 3-39; Susan Fincher, 7-72 and Debbie Connolly 7-55. For the Juniors Carol Anthony has a fantastic 314 yards on just 15 carries.

capped a second-half comeback by the Eagles, who trailed 20-7 at intermission. Hill also threw two TD passes to Pete Retzlaff in the Philadelphia rally.

Player Best Against Irish, Says Jones

By PHIL BROWN
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)

Michigan State halfback Clint Jones, who set a Big Ten record by running 258 yards against Iowa, thought he played a better game against Notre Dame, although he gained only 13 yards.

Jones carried the ball just 10 times. The rest of the time he was blocking, helping Jimmy Raye run 75 yards and throwing a key block in Regis Cavedon's four-yard touchdown run.

"I think we're No. 1," he said Sunday. "I think if we played them again we could beat them. But that's water over the dam."

MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty said it was the type of game where "no back was going to have any running room."

Thus, he wasn't ready to accept any arguments that Notre Dame would have been much stronger if injured halfback Nick Eddy had played.

And, he noted, Notre Dame trounced Duke 64-0 without Eddy.

The Irish sophomore sensation, quarterback Terry Hanratty, left the game in the first quarter after powerful Charlie Thornhill, a 5-10, 205-pound line-backer, and Bubba Smith, NSU's 6-foot-7, 283-pound defensive end, tackled him on a running play.

But, said Daugherty, while Hanratty was in, "we had him pretty well stopped."

Daugherty declined to do what many a fan in Lansing was doing — criticizing the Fighting Irish for not going all out at the end of the game.

There were two ways to look at the situation—he said—to choose to protect the tie or to pass.

"Two 'out' (pass patterns in which the receiver steps out of bounds after the catch to stop the clock) would have put them in field goal range," he said.

It was Michigan State that was doing the clock stopping.

Daugherty said he had no doubt, either, about taking the risk of giving Notre Dame time with the ball.

"If we could have recovered the ball down there (the Notre Dame 34) we would have been in field goal range," he said.

Goaltending From Bench of Montreal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Charley Hodge has been doing most of his goaltending from the end of the Montreal bench and it hasn't been the busiest spot in the National Hockey League lately.

But business picked up considerably for Hodge Sunday night. He replaced Gump Worsley in the nets for the slumping Canadiens and turned in a sparkling 40-save performance as Montreal nipped New York 2-1.

It was only the fourth start this season for the diminutive Hodge, but it was a big one. The victory ended a five-game Montreal losing streak and lifted the Canadiens out of the NHL cellar. It also halted a five-game unbeaten string for New York.

In other games Sunday night, Boston stretched its unbeaten string to five games and whacked Detroit 5-2 while Toronto rallied for a 2-2 tie against Chicago.

SWC Could End in a 3 Way Tie

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most of the news revolves around Southern Methodist's gallant drive down the stretch toward an unexpected Southwest Conference championship but there's interest aplenty, as usual, in the annual Texas-Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day game.

These old enemies — they started playing back in 1894 — get together at Austin Thursday and for a change there's something riding on the result.

It opens the final week of conference play with everything to be determined in the last games.

For instance, the winner of the Aggie-Texas game could tie for the conference championship. Neither could get into a bowl game by so doing, however, since Texas was beaten by the teams it might be tied with and A&M couldn't go to a bowl game because it is on NCAA probation.

But it would be a big boost to the Aggies if they could whip their ancient foes and should they tie for the title, would mean they had returned to the glory road after 10 years of languishing among the also-rans.

Southern Methodist, which specializes in winning games in the last seconds (not necessarily designed for keeping the fans in the stands until the finish but accomplishing it just the same), can win the title undisputed and leap into the Cotton Bowl by whipping Texas Christian at Fort Worth Saturday.

This may be a tougher task than it seems. The Mustangs haven't been able to do better than the Texas Christian in the last eight seasons.

But there's so much riding on the result this time, it isn't likely the Mustangs will have an inferiority complex. Especially since they haven't lost to any team the Christians have fallen to except Arkansas.

But should Texas Christian upset Southern Methodist, there would be a three-way tie for the title and Arkansas would be the Cotton Bowl team. The Razorbacks have finished the season with a 6-2 record. Southern Methodist is 5-1 and Texas and Texas A&M are 4-2.

At Waco Saturday Rice and Baylor wind up a dismal campaign, each trying to evade the cellar. But it will be the last game for Rice's Jess Neely, the grand old man of coaching who calls it a day. And his Owls will be going all out to make it a happy occasion for him.

An all-out game between Baylor and Rice, two high-powered offensive teams, could be quite a show. Especially since Terry Southall of Baylor is due to try for the conference record in passing.

He completed 29 for 350 yards in the 24-22 loss to Southern Methodist Saturday when the Mustangs pulled into first place while Arkansas was taking a shocking 21-16 defeat from Texas Tech. Southall needs only 20 connections 800 yards to better the conference record of 174 for a season.

NLR Moves Back Into State Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Defending champion North Little Rock moved within one victory of a second straight Associated Press Arkansas high school football title today when the Wildcats set the pace in the next to last poll of the season.

The Wildcats, 10-1 for the year, polled 11 first place votes and 128 points from the panel of 13 sports writers and broadcasters.

North Little Rock closes its season Thursday with its traditional Thanksgiving Day battle with Little Rock Catholic.

The only other ranked teams with games remaining are Little Rock Central, No. 2, and Little Rock Northside, No. 8. They collide on Thursday, too.

Hall got two first place votes and 114 points to edge Fort Smith Northside for second place. Northside was third at 109.

Fayetteville climbed into fourth place with 86 points followed by Fort Smith Southside.

Rounding out the top ten in order were Crossett, Texarkana, Central, Springdale and Sheridan.

Crossett clung to its lead in Class AA as did Brinkley in Class A and Norphlet in Class B. All have completed unbeaten seasons, though Crossett has been tied once.

Results of the poll, with first place votes in parentheses and total points at right:

1. North LR (11) 128
2. LR Hall (2) 114
3. FS Northside 109

Democrats Entrenched in Senate

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)

Barling an unexpected landslide defeat of their 1968 presidential candidate, Democrats appear solidly entrenched for control of the Senate for another four years.

Although Republicans could hope to regain control of the House for the first time since 1952 with the impetus of the election of a president, the GOP's chances of getting the upper hand in the Senate would seem to require a Democratic defeat in the proportions of Barry Goldwater's 1964 disaster.

With their Senate membership boosted to 36 in the Nov. 8 election, the Republicans would have to grab 15 Democratic seats two years from now to gain a Senate majority—and the powerful committee chairmanships and other prerogatives that go with it.

Twenty-three Democratic and 11 GOP seats will be at stake in 1968, but politicians currently class as doubtful only about 10 Democratic and perhaps one Republican post.

Senatorial contests in California nearly always toss-ups. But Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, the assistant GOP leader, faces more than usual difficulties because of his failure to give public support to Republican Ronald Reagan, who won the governorship.

The term of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois also ends two years from now. If he elects to run again at 72, however, the betting is that he will come through.

Most vulnerable among the Democrats may be the first-termers who won in 1962. These include Sens. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Daniel B. Brewster of Maryland, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and George McGovern of South Dakota. Indiana gave Republican candidates for the House a total vote substantially higher than the Democrats in the Nov. 8 balloting. Maryland, Wisconsin and South Dakota all elected Republican governors.

THE WELL CHILD

Measles Vaccine Is Good News to Expectant Mothers

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Vaccines have recently been developed against two common childhood diseases—mumps and German measles. Both vaccines consist of live viruses of these diseases so modified that they are safe while still conferring immunity.

The German measles vaccine, developed by Drs. H. M. Meyer and P. D. Parkman at the University of Arkansas, is especially welcome because exposure of a woman to this virus during the first three months of pregnancy often causes severe damage to her unborn baby. This has been known to occur even though the woman had previously had German measles and was herself immune to the disease. If, through the use of the new vaccine, all children are immunized the disease will virtually disappear and with it this threat to the newborn.

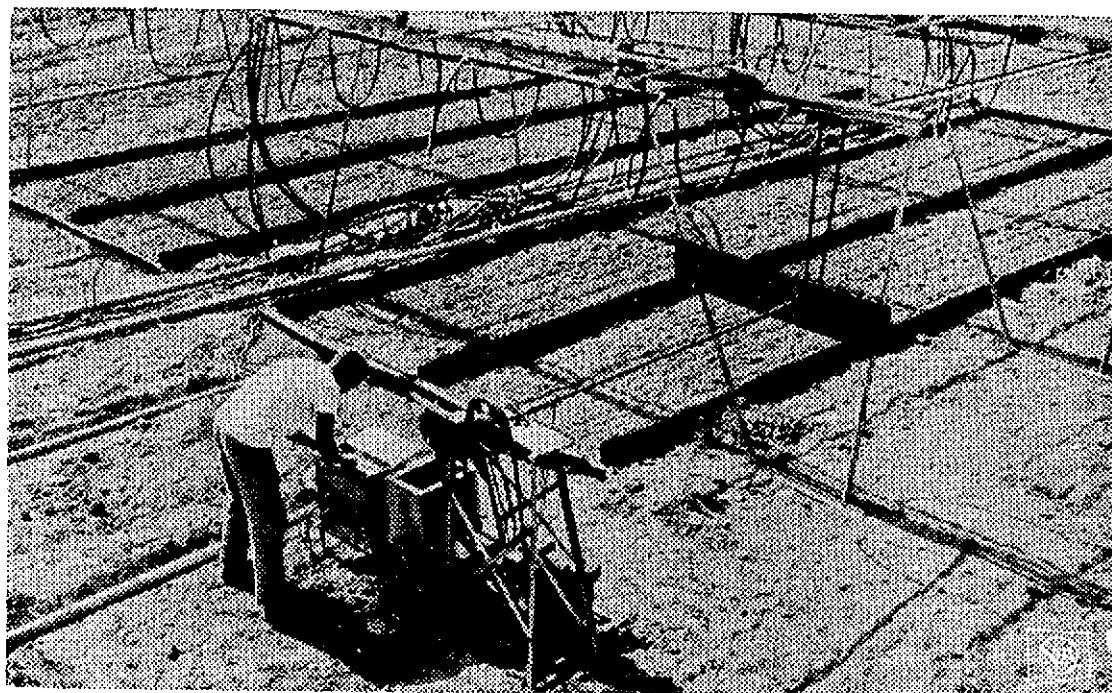

The new mumps vaccine was developed by Drs. M. R. Hilleman and E. Buynak of West Point, Pa. How worthwhile protection against this disease is can be illustrated by the following experience: Several years ago the doctor at a private school sent a letter to the parents of all the pupils suggesting that they allow their children to be exposed to mumps and get it over with while they were young because it is much more serious in adults. All the parents agreed and within three months 66 of the 148 children who had not already had the disease got it.

Unfortunately, six of the children developed complications and many of the others brought the disease to older members of the household who were not immune. One teacher in the school also got it. The use of an effective vaccine is much the better way to prevent these diseases.

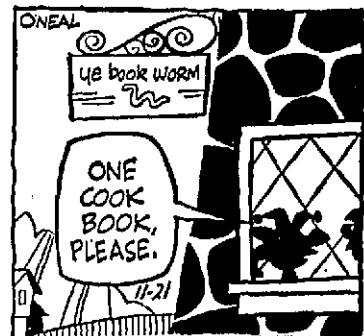

Q—How can a person tell that a baby is born 2 months too soon?

A—The head of a premature is larger in proportion to the rest of his body than that of a full-term baby. The eyes and tongue are large and may protrude. The nails are fully formed, but softer than in a nine-months baby. The infant is inactive and has difficulty nursing. His cry is feeble. His breathing is irregular and easily disturbed. His body temperature is subnormal and fluctuates with changes in the surrounding temperature. His birth weight is less than 5 1/2 pounds and the loss of weight in the first few days is greater than that of a full-term baby. The return to the birth weight also takes longer.

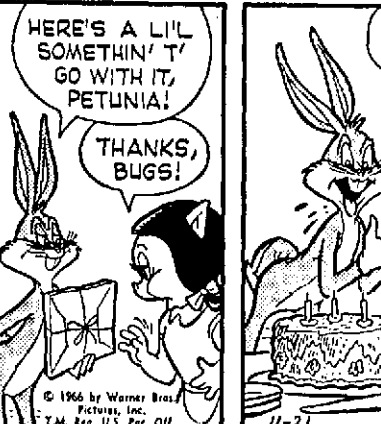

ARTIFICIAL RAINFALL is created at the Agriculture Department's Watkinsville, Ga., Experiment Station to determine how much pesticide runs off a given plot of ground and how much stays in the soil to kill weeds. Scientists have found that the chemical form in which pesticide is applied to fields may greatly influence the wash-off rate. More is retained of types that form a solution with water, penetrating the soil.

Fred Karpin's new book, "Psychological Strategy in Bridge," includes examples of strategic bids made in the early days of contract. Today's hand is from the Culbertson-Lenz match and illustrates a bid invented by Oswald Jacoby early in 1931 and used successfully in that match. This particular bid known as the preemptive jump overall is standard expert practice today. In 1931 Jacoby was about the only person who used it, although other experts followed along shortly thereafter. We still recommend the bid but not with quite so weak a hand as Jacoby held then.

The purpose of the preemptive weak jump overall is to deprive your opponents of bidding space. It also is likely to excite them and cause them to misbid. The danger of the bid comes from being doubled and in which case your opponents could have made had they played the hand.

The two heart bid excited Mrs. Culbertson sitting North. She jumped to three spades. Ely Culbertson, South, bid four diamonds. From then on the bidding continued to six diamonds. Ely's four and five no-trump bids were normal. This match was played before anyone had invented an artificial four no-trump convention.

Mrs. Culbertson might well have stopped at five no-trump but she knew Ely had a good hand and could not visualize that most of his strength was in hearts.

The slam would have made except for the fact that Jacoby came up with the lead of the six of spades. He hoped to discourage a spade finesse but it turned out that Lenz held the ace. Lenz returned a spade for the setting trick. With any other suit led Culbertson would have made all the tricks.

Better Homemaking

TIKI TIGER PUNCH of pineapple juice, fresh limes and strawberry sherbet brightens holiday table. Filling in with sterling silver punch bowl are children's flatware and porring dishes. Lifesize tiger from F A O Schwartz in New York sets theme for youthful party.

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The holiday season has sneaked in as cleverly as the little boy who succeeds in hiding his puppy under the bedcovers. We know it's there. Now what are we going to do about it?

Gift-giving and entertaining go hand in hand. Since more families enjoy little buffets with friends or a neighborhood open house, keep in mind gifts that do double duty. Especially effective are fresh new designs highlighted with color in hollow ware. Few items dress up even a simple setting for an afternoon punch party for the "club" than silver.

Fortunately, silversmiths are designing and finishing hollow ware so it looks more expensive than it is. The favored price range is $5, $10 or $20. This season there are silverplated items with enameled colored linings, trays with micarta bases and modern adaptations of traditional items. For example, there are silverplated cocktail tumblers patterned after the old English weighted-bottom tumbler glasses used in stagecoaches.

Although many tire of the constant use of the word "elegant," that is the only way to describe how homemakers today approach both what they buy and gifts they would like to receive. But in the upswing to more gracious living a person can get stung.

The Silversmiths Foundation of Oneida, N.Y., suggests looking for quality when buying silver. For example, the over-all finish should not have scratches, clouding or dents.

The borders of hollow ware are important. Applied borders (a border soldered to the piece) generally means more quality and expense than a piece with a raw edge or rolled border. In all cases the edges should be smooth, carefully buffed and finished.

The foundation also points out that more expensive irregular borders and edges take more hand-finishing. Often manufacturers oxidize or blacken the edges to add depth to a design.

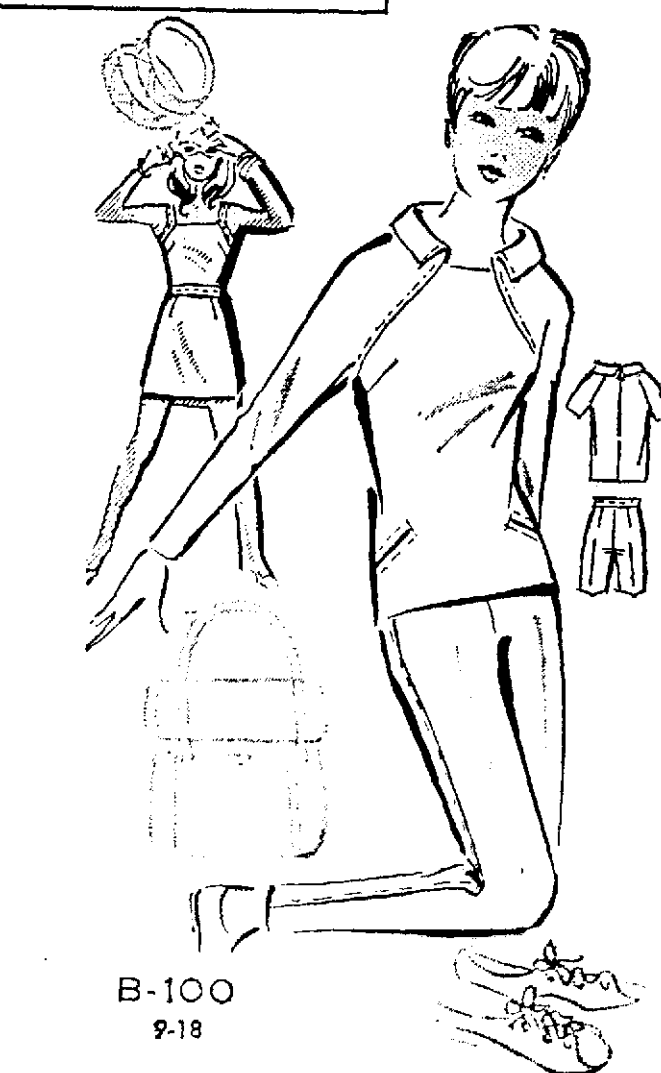

Be practical, too, when selecting hollow ware. Does the item do what it is supposed to do, such as a candlestick holding candles without wobbling? Coffee pots and tea pots should have insulators in the handles and the tops vented. Beverage pitchers are best with ice guards.

The current mode of living and entertaining dictates what people like to use and receive. Chip and dip servers are especially good and the two leading designs are traditional and Early American.

NIGHTCLUB SELLS TICKETS
NEW YORK (AP)—The Empire Room in the Waldorf-Astoria will sell tickets to its dinner and supper shows — through theater ticket agencies in the Broadway area.

The nightclub says it is doing this for out-of-town visitors who often avoid nightclubs because they fear the amount of the bill which will be presented at the end of the evening. Tickets bought in advance include a meal, floor show, cover charge, tips and dancing — not liquor.

Free Press, Fair Trial Discussed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Proposals of the American Bar Association in the free press-fair trial controversy do not interfere with freedom of speech or of the press, delegates to the Associated Press Managing Editors convention were told today.

Grant B. Cooper, a Los Angeles attorney and member of the American Bar Association's advisory committee on fair trial-free press, presented the lawyer's side at a panel before the editors' 33rd annual convention.

Speaking for the press was Sam Ragan of the Raleigh, N.C., News and Observer, who opposed what he described as an ABA plan to impose censorship of news.

Cooper, in his prepared speech, said that lawyers, in proposing the restriction of certain information about criminal matters, are merely exercising the right and duty to remain silent on matters that interfere with the right of fair trial.

Cooper said that the lawyers have proposed amendments to their canons to spell out specifically what they may ethically say and disclose.

"In the past, our canons were far too general," he said. The new recommendations provide for discipline by the bench and bar for violation of specific rules.

"It is true," he said, "that we have recommended that a rule be adopted by the courts that in preliminary matters before trial, all or part of some hearings may be held in chambers, or that the public, including the press, be excluded from the courtroom under certain circumstances."

"This right to hold limited closed hearings has always been inherent in the courts and does not interfere with either freedom of speech or of the press."

"In short, we have sought to insure that every defendant be given the fair and impartial trial guaranteed him under the Constitution, and once fairly convicted, that we avoid the expense and burdens of appeals and retrials resulting from the legal profession's misconduct," Cooper said.

CARS BY THE DOZEN

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Piet Swart of a popular holiday resort, Hartenbos, on the southern Cape Province coast, is a motor salesman's dream. Over the past 16 years he has bought 130 cars — and was awaiting delivery of his 131st. Swart said he could not explain his weakness for cars other than it was in his blood. In the past six years he has bought about ten to 12 new cars a year.

Almost as quickly as they come, they go. Once he traded in a new car after two days and 200 miles. On another car he lost $280 sterling ($784) after he had done only 1,600 miles.

"If I am not satisfied with a car, I sell it immediately, no matter what I lose," he said. "But that does not happen very often. I know the prices of all cars and their second-hand value off by heart."

Monday, November 21, 1966

Lately his cats have been either white or pale grey because he finds they do not show the dust. "But before that," he said, "they were all black, green and red."

Swart says he can still remember all his cars and where he drives through the streets he can pick them out by the door.

He is not in the motor trade. He owns a general store in Hartenbos.

Traffic Caution New Cost Rise Hits Nation

In America we drive on the right side of the road—except at a curb-side mailbox at a post office, where a car crossing over to the left side of the street to deposit mail clearly has the right-of-way.

Thoughtless Hope drivers ignore the obvious, however, and whizz by congested cars at the mailbox without a pause. The left-side box is a public convenience that permits a driver to deposit mail without getting out of his car—and common courtesy demands that he be protected while on the left side of the street briefly.

The city government should post caution signs half a block away on either side of the mailbox, pulling traffic down to 10 miles an hour in the Post Office zone—and then, if oncoming drivers don't respect the signs, start making arrests.

Government doesn't produce any revenue for the average private citizen but it is eminently successful in piling up his expenses. The public has finally sensed the truth of this and mounted a counter attack Nov. 8, knocking off nearly 50 Democratic congressmen—but the sheer momentum of the past mistakes is continuing to send living costs still higher.

The week-end brought daily newspapers all over the nation a notice of a 9 per cent increase in leased-wire costs effective Jan. 1, 1967. The wire organization pointed out that the Federal Communications Commission has overturned the traditional "Telpak pricing concept" and posted substantial increases in the cost of the long-distance lines that bring national and international news to the newspaper Teletype.

Earlier in the year the big paper mills added $5 a ton to the cost of newsprint, citing increased production costs, and the newspapers in general have absorbed this extra cost. Whether they can continue to absorb such increases as the new wire tariff will be determined by operating reports in the next quarter or two.

If the public is cynical it has a right to be. Every time Government announces some new reform the private citizen gets the bill. He not only pays his own taxes but the taxes of every business house he deals with as well. If that's "reform" give me the good old days of injustice. The road back is clear enough: Beat every federal spender when his name comes up at the polling place.

Rockefeller Cancels Talk

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Arkansas governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller, who is in New York on family business, has been forced to cancel a speech scheduled for today before the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation at Hot Springs.

A spokesman said a severe cold would keep Rockefeller in bed for the next few days. The spokesman added that Rockefeller would then leave for a brief vacation before returning to Little Rock some time after Dec. 1.

Man, 2 of His Children Drowned

CLARENDON, Ark. (AP) — A man and two of his children drowned Sunday about seven miles south of here at the north end of East Lake.

The victims were identified by Sheriff H. K. McKenzie as Lewis Gist, 36, and his children, Dixie, 9, and Neal, 4, of Luxora. McKenzie said they had been in a boat that apparently turned over in the water.

Court Delays Ruling in Georgia Case

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court stayed today a three-judge federal court ruling that the Georgia Legislature cannot elect that state's next governor.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's attorney general, asking the U.S. Supreme Court to delay further court rulings on selection of a Georgia governor, gained a temporary ally today. The ally was the American Civil Liberties Union, which sought successfully last week to have a lower court void a state constitution provision that called for the legislature to pick a winner when no candidate gets a majority.

Republican Howard Callaway drew 451,032 general election votes for governor to 448,459 for Democrat Lester Maddox. But former Gov. Ellis Arnall got 57,832 write-in votes — keeping either nominee from the 50-plus per cent required to win.

Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton was in Washington today, backed by Charles Morgan, regional director of the ACLU, to ask that the lower court's ruling be stayed until after the Supreme Court has heard Bolton's appeal.

The extended stay would delay action by the lower court on petitions calling for a runoff or a special election.

Francis Shackelford and Emmet J. Bonduant, lawyers for a citizens group which had joined the ACLU in attacking the constitutional provision, also are in Washington. They are seeking to have the lower court ruling upheld promptly.

A stay until Nov. 27 already is in effect, set by the three-judge panel in Atlanta, which ruled last Thursday that a showdown in a malapportioned legislature would give unfair weight to some voters' ballots. The three federal jurists proposed no alternative.

Gov. Carl E. Sanders is due to leave office Jan. 10 but has said he would remain until a successor is chosen.

State Hosp. to Get a New Piano

According to Mrs. Freeda R. Greenan, member of the Board of Directors, Arkansas Association for Mental Health, Inc., a new piano is to be presented by the Association to the Arkansas State Hospital for patient benefit.

Mrs. Greenan said the ceremonies will take place at the hospital on November 23 at 1:30 p.m.

If anyone has any kind of musical instrument in working condition that he would like to donate for the use of patients, it would be appreciated. Please contact Mrs. Greenan, R2, Box 128, Hope, or the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James E. O'Connell, president, The Arkansas Association for Mental Health, 1765 Tower Building, Little Rock.

3 Deaths on Weekend in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A trio of Saturday traffic accidents accounted for three deaths in Arkansas over the weekend, an Associated Press count showed today.

The three deaths were somewhat lower than recent weeks in which from eight to 10 persons had died in state highway accidents during the count period, 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

James E. Roberts, 27, of Midway in Poinsett County was killed Saturday night in a two-car collision at an intersection on U.S. 67 near Judsonia.

Mrs. Toka Hunter, 60, of Muskogee, Okla., was killed Saturday in a two-car collision in Fort Smith.

The other victim was W. C. Smith, 20, of Dardanelle. Smith was killed in a car-truck crash on U.S. 67 about one-half mile north of Cabot Saturday.

2 Arkansans Die in Wreck

GIDDINGS, Tex. (AP) — Two soldiers from Arkansas were among five persons killed near here Sunday when a car and pickup truck collided in a dense fog on U.S. 290.

Killed were Pvt. James M. Henry, 17, of El Dorado, Ark., Pvt. Ned Allen Becker, 21, of Searcy, Ark., Pvt. Robert E. Chauvin Jr. of Abbeville, La., Milton Jones McClellan, 53, of Ledbetter, Tex., and his wife, Orle Lee, 51.

The accident occurred in a curve about six miles east of Giddings, which is about 54 miles east of Austin.

Court Okays Traffic Fines Accounting

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ordered today that Conway County Chancery Court hear a taxpayers' suit that asks for an accounting of traffic fines and costs paid into the county treasury.

The suit, filed by 15 taxpayers, is against sheriff and collector Martin Hawkins. It alleges that Hawkins "at least as early as 1955 and continuing at least until 1961 wrongfully appropriated, exacted and converted to his own use substantial sums of money collected and received as fines and costs."

The court, in an opinion written by Associate Justice Guy Ansler, said the suit rightfully belongs in chancery court, an equity court.

The suit was originally filed in chancery court but Chancellor Richard "Obley" transferred the case to circuit court. The late Circuit Judge Wiley Bean denied a motion to transfer the case back to chancery court, sustained a demurrer and dismissed the suit with prejudice.

The high court held that Bean erred by basing his dismissal largely on the statute of limitations.

"If it can be shown that there was in fact concealment by appellant the statute of limitations would not begin to run until discovery of the condition complained of," the court said.

The court remanded the suit to circuit court with directions that it be transferred back to chancery court for further consideration after the demurrer has been overruled.

Admission of China Study Seen

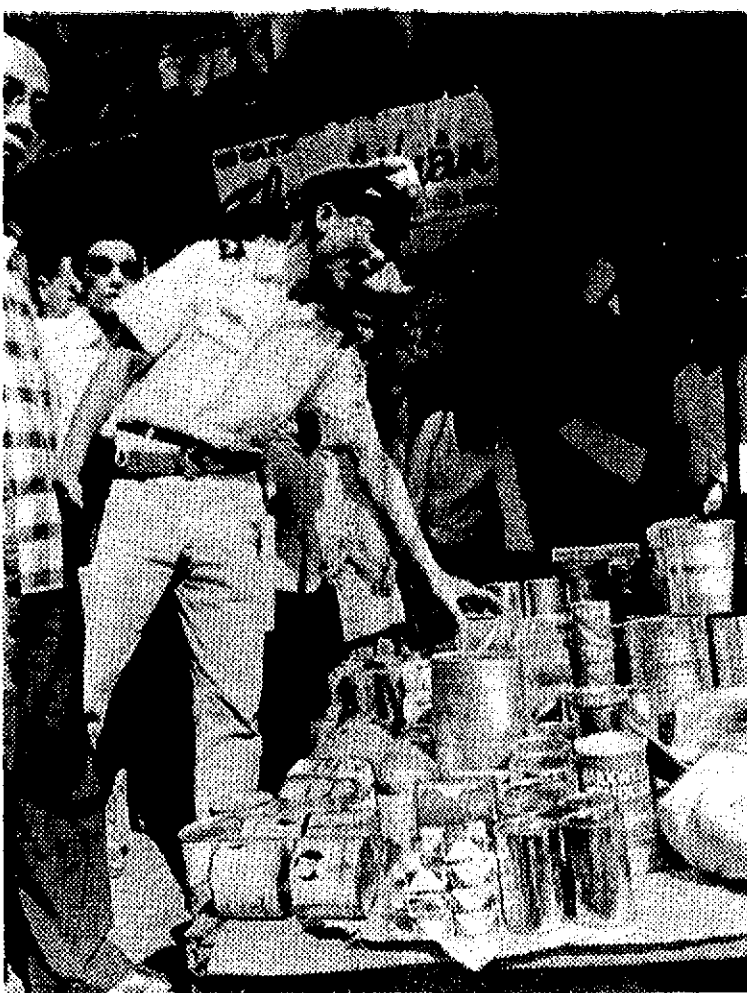

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Some U.N. diplomats predict that the United States will support a resolution to authorize a year's committee study of admission of Red China to the world organization.

Italy, Belgium, Brazil and several other nations planned to submit a resolution today calling for the U.N. General Assembly to appoint a committee to study the issue, sound out Peking and recommend a fair solution to the 1967 session.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was scheduled to present the U.S. view on the China question in a speech to the assembly shortly afterward. Italian Sen. Attilio Piccioni, outlining the proposal to the assembly Friday, said the committee should ask Peking if it really wants to be represented in the United Nations and if it will abide by the charter.

The committee also should determine what the position of Nationalist China would be if Peking were granted a seat, he said. The Nationalists, now confined to the island of Formosa, currently represent China in the Security Council and the General Assembly. The Nationalist government and the mainland Communist regime both have expressed strong opposition to a two-China policy giving representation to both.

Goldberg told the assembly Sept. 22 that the issue of seating Red China concerned whether Peking would abide by the charter and whether it would withdraw "unacceptable" demands for the expulsion of the Nationalists.

After Three Years the Kennedy Assassination Still Controversial

NEW YORK (AP) — Tuesday is the third anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, Tex., and the controversy surrounding his death continues.

Was the killer Lee Harvey Oswald? Did he act alone? Or was there a conspiracy involving one or more accomplices?

The special investigative commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren answered the first two questions with a firm yes, the third with a firm no.

These conclusions followed months of hearing hundreds of witnesses and examining a mountainous array of evidence.

But still pouring forth are books and magazine articles challenging both the commission's report and the adequacy of its investigation.

So persistent are the attacks that in a Nov. 4 news conference President Johnson apparently left open a possibility that the circumstances of the assassination might be further explored — if important new evidence should be forthcoming.

Johnson said: "I know of no evidence that would in any way cause any reasonable person to have a doubt about the Warren Commission. But if there is any evidence that's brought forth, I'm sure that the commission and the appropriate authorities will take action that may be justified."

The Warren Commission report made this summation: "The shots which killed President Kennedy and wounded Gov. John B. Connally of Texas) were fired by Lee Harvey Oswald. On the basis of the evidence before the commission, it concludes that Oswald acted alone."

The commission found that the rifle fire had come entirely from a window of the Texas School Book Depository Building. Critics of the commission insist there is reason to believe some shots were fired from elsewhere.

Attorney Mark Lane asserts in his book "Rush to Judgment" that at least seven witnesses said they had seen "a puff, or puffs, of white smoke" from behind a wooden fence which the presidential car was about to pass.

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Sheriff Whit Stevenson said Sunday that a 46-year-old Arkadelphia man was stabbed to death, apparently with a hunting knife made by the victim.

Stevenson identified the man as John Robert Bell Jr., for 23 years an employee of Arkansas Power & Light Co. Stevenson said he had not yet been able to question the victim's wife who was hospitalized in a state of shock.

GOPs to Offer Own State of Union Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says he expects Republicans to come up with a "State of the Union" message of their own after President Johnson delivers his to Congress early next year.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen reports Republicans also hope to offer an alternate budget if Johnson fails to balance income and spending in his proposed 1967-68 fiscal program.

These disclosures, made in separate weekend interviews, came as Republican leaders began formulating strategy on how to deploy their beefed-up minority in the 90th Congress which convenes Jan. 10. The GOP picked up 47 House seats and 3 Senate seats in the Nov. 8 elections.

Dirksen said Republicans will present "positive programs" in 1967 rather than mere opposition to administration proposals. Ford took a similar stance. He said there will be no intention of trying to cut out all "Great Society" programs, but he predicted an effort to "keep them from rolling."

Ford declined to get into specifics on GOP plans, saying he wanted to meet first with ranking Republican members of House committees.

He said, however, that House Republicans would not form a coalition with Southern Democrats in an attempt to block administration programs.

Ford disclosed efforts will be made to "tighten up" aid to education and to transfer some functions of the antipoverty program to other agencies.

LBJ Is a Hard Man to Slow Down

By KARL R. BAUMAN
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson doesn't always mind his doctor. But the doctor seemed to know he wouldn't.

The President, who underwent two operations Wednesday, toiled about the hill country of central Texas Sunday at the wheel of a white Continental, making an accurate — but reluctant — prophet out of his family physician, Dr. James C. Cain.

Johnson "is a hard man to slow down," Cain had observed Wednesday, though adding that the and other presidential doctors hoped they could persuade the chief executive to take things easy.

One of their rules: Johnson "shouldn't drive a car for maybe three weeks."

The President started off minding doctors' orders, but it didn't last long Sunday. Mrs. Johnson drove the President to 11 o'clock services at the Johnson City Christian church where the lay minister, Ray Akin, an Austin school principal, announced Johnson had been elected elder.

The conference, attended by students, teachers and administrators from about 40 colleges, was called "extremely successful" by Dr. James P. Dixon, president of Antioch. The delegates acted as individuals, not as representatives of their schools.

But Shaffer and Yale students Larry Davis of Jersey City, N.J., and John Rothchild of St. Petersburg, Fla., said one reason for their walkout was that they could not commit their schools to the actions of the conference. Davis and Rothchild charged that the delegates did not comprise "a representative body of the academic community."

Heavy Fighting Flares Anew in Viet Nam

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen clashed in close-quarter fighting today with an encircling force of North Vietnamese in the central highlands.

The U.S. military command said heavy new fighting broke out when a platoon of the helicopter-borne 1st Cavalry, Airborne Division was attacked at hand grenade range by a "sizeable" North Vietnamese force. The "Flying Horsemen" brought in reinforcements and air strikes and reported killing 45 North Vietnamese, but the fighting continued this afternoon.

The action, part of Operation Paul Revere 4, raged 22 miles southwest of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Diereng, scene of North Vietnamese probes and skirmishes for more than a week.

Ground action was reported light elsewhere, but Korean marines operating near the South China Sea coast reported killing 91 Viet Cong Sunday in a two-and-a-half-hour battle seven miles northwest of Quang Ngai City. A Korean spokesman said the marines clashed with a reinforced Viet Cong company of 200 men, the largest enemy unit they have met since moving into the area last August.

In the air, Guam-based B52 bombers staged three raids today on enemy positions in South Viet Nam, two of them in Communist War Zone C in Tay Ninh Province.

A few hours after the giant Stratoforters struck, 1,200 men of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were lifted by helicopter into the target area, moving to within 1,500 yards of the Cambodian border.

Brig. Gen. "G. G. O'Connor, the assistant division commander, said his forces would continue to search for the Viet Cong in the area "but it seems now that they have fled across the border for sanctuary."

In the central highlands fighting, a U.S. spokesman said the North Vietnamese hit the American cavalrymen initially from all sides.

The spokesman said contact diminished this afternoon but was still continuing at last report. He said U.S. casualties so far were light.

In addition to two raids on Tay Ninh Province, B52 bombers also struck today at a suspected Viet Cong troop concentration 32 miles northwest of the coastal city of Qui Nhon.

U.S. air action over North Viet Nam was limited sharply again Sunday by bad weather and poor visibility. U.S. pilots flew only 45 strike missions, most of them against coastal targets in the southern panhandle.

European Reds in Unwilling Position Now

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — East European Communists have a frustrated feeling of being dragged unwillingly behind what they consider the unrealistic onward rush of Hanoi's war policy.

This feeling was expressed privately and was reflected in public speeches at the Bulgarian Communist Party Congress which ended Saturday. Leaders from Eastern Europe and Communists from other areas attended.

The Congress heard more about China than Viet Nam. Except for the Romanians, the delegates in their speeches did not discuss the Vietnamese situation in detail, and most notably they did not set conditions for peace.

This was one of several recent signs that, in Eastern Europe and in Moscow, policies on Viet Nam are flexible. The European Communist governments want the war to end and therefore are not insisting on such conditions as U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam before peace negotiations can open.

Honeysuckle Turkey Roast—Delicious for Thanksgiving

This is a boneless, top quality turkey roast containing white and dark meat in natural proportions. It's wrapped in turkey skin for added flavor and attractive brown appearance. Take it directly from the freezer and roast in a very hot oven (450 degrees) for juicy, tender turkey at its very best.

Honeysuckle Turkey Roasts are sold in their foil roasting pans and include plenty of giblets plus a packet of instant gravy. Simply mix with cold water, add to drippings and heat to boiling. In minutes, you'll have satin smooth, rich turkey gravy with just the right seasoning. Plan on three servings of wonderful Honeysuckle Turkey Roast to the pound. It's easy to carve and delicious to serve hot or cold. Now you can have Thanksgiving every Thursday or any other day with no fuss and practically no bother.

A Look At the 'In?'

TLOOTH By Harry Mathews Doubleday $3.95.

For anyone who has a bit of curiosity about what is going on out there among the advance guard fictionists, this might be a proper sample of what the non-sense boys and the unsalted nuts are doing these days.

This answers to the name of a novel, because it has the appearance of a narrative. It is told by an oddball who at first seems to be (an unexplained) captive in a Siberian camp, escapes across Central Asia, recuperates in Venice, flits off to India and winds up in France.

This character, being "In," is loaded with esoteric gibberish about literary obscurities and pharmacology, and is addicted to buried puns. In one fantastic sequence in his Venetian period he writes a script for a dirty movie. That's not all! The book is full of real and not-so-real people who keep popping up in all sorts of non-sequitur situations. The narrator becomes a cross between Sinbad the Sailor and Pop-Eye.

The trappings include that well-beloved device of the literary fashion experts, the cryptographic literary hoax. And how many times has that gimmick been worn out?

Well, this could be some fun for anyone who wants to have a look at the terribly contrived, nervously eccentric effusions of those self-conscious writers who strive so desperately to be experimental. Not that their lot is easy. Mathews is a stick expert in the nonsense field; he has campaign ribbons from Little Magazines to prove it indisputably, he has a gift for words. It just happens that the words add up to an embroidered zero.

Buttons Dress Up Simple Designs

MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many of the best designers use buttons as decoration. You can make button-eyes or not as you wish. In many instances buttons are simply sewn on as we show.

Your dress could be of linen or one of the heavier blend fabrics, or of a suiting cotton. The fabric should have enough body to hold to shape on the figure. Use a zipper down center back when buttons are used for decoration.

There are four fashion essentials to notice in this dress: (1) buttons for decoration, (2) slight flare in the skirt, (3) suggestion of a sleeve and (4) the soft collar that stands just slightly away from the neck.

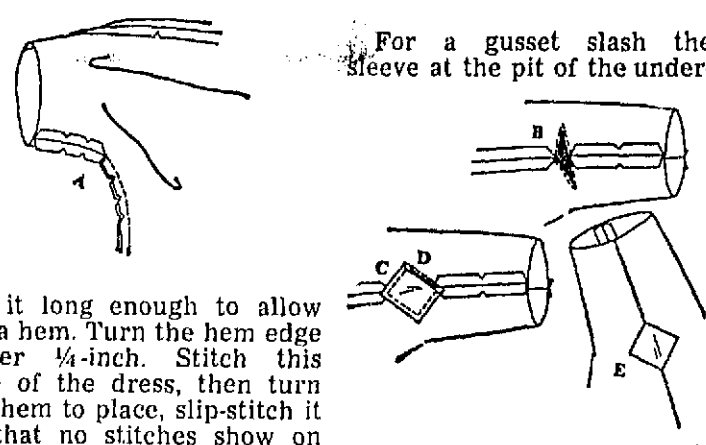

The dress may be worn with or without a belt.

If you use buttons as decoration, press the two front seams in toward the center panel. This gives you three thicknesses through which to sew the buttons helping them to better hold position.

When cutting the sleeve, cut it long enough to allow for a hem. Turn the hem edge under 1/4-inch. Stitch this free of the dress, then turn the hem to place, slip-stitch it so that no stitches show on the right side.

If you desire a longer sleeve, cut it to the length you want but add a gusset for comfort in wear.

For a gusset slash the sleeve at the pit of the under-

Food for Americans

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Parsnips, a staple winter vegetable on which early American settlers relied heavily, are not hothouse darlings. No, their sweet flavor does not develop until the weather is near to freezing. But there will be plenty around for the American harvest feast. Served in croquettes, they'll add pleasure and a note of tradition to the Thanksgiving dinner.

Brussels sprouts are another popular harvest vegetable. Baked with cheese, they are delicious with the holiday turkey.

FRESH PARSNIP CROQUETTES

2 pounds fresh parsnips
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
2 eggs, beaten
1/4 cup fine bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon milk

Wash parsnips and steam, unpeeled, until just tender. Cut in half, lengthwise. Remove core and discard. Mash parsnips and measure (there should be 2 cups). Add seasonings, butter, bread crumbs and eggs. Mix well. Shape into croquettes. Roll in remaining 1/4-cup bread crumbs, then in remaining egg mixed with milk, and in bread crumbs again. Fry in hot deep fat (365 degrees) until brown and crisp, 5 minutes. Yield: Eight large croquettes.

BAKED FRESH BRUSSELS SPROUTS CASSEROLE

1 quart basket fresh Brussels sprouts

1 beef bouillon cube
2 tablespoons butter and margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup milk
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 cup grated sharp American cheese

Wash and trim Brussels sprouts. Place in saucepan in 1-inch boiling water and add bouillon cube. Bring to boil and cook uncovered, 5 minutes. Drain if necessary. In the meantime, melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Blend in flour and gradually stir in milk. Cook until medium thickness, stirring constantly. Combine with Brussels sprouts and bread crumbs. Add salt, pepper and 1/4-cup of the cheese. Toss lightly. Turn into a 1 1/2-quart casserole. Top with remaining cheese. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes or until cheese has melted over top and has lightly browned, 6 servings.

Pick the Proper Power to Chase Away the Snow

By MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are and more it's a case of power vs. snow rather than depending on hand shoveling to remove the white stuff.

Power snow-removal equipment is rapidly becoming as popular and common as the lawnmower.

Part of the reason may be a matter of status, much of it is spurred on by newspaper reports of heart attacks that occur while shoveling snow.

Whatever the reason, a well-running power snow remover can shorten a man's wearisome job.

The equipment sitting there in the salesroom floor probably looks capable of battling blizzards. But, like everything else, there's a unit that's best suited to your purposes, so pick wisely.

Light, heavy equipment is a lot of money for a short and little sidewalk. Too big a unit on a long, wide driveway and loads of snow will walk is no better than no snow remover at all.

Power propelled or not? The units are now self-propelled and the same considerations apply as mentioned for size. Large units should be self-propelled. Aside from their own weight there is the weight and bulk of all that snow. It's an awful lot to be wrestling without the aid of power.

Plows Bow Out

Snow plows (a blade in front of a power unit) are rapidly becoming obsolete for home use. Moderate cost of the blade that you could attach on a garden plow or tractor was the prime consideration that made these popular for a time. All you can do with a plow is push the snow to one side. The snow thrower, on the other hand, tosses the snow a good distance away. A revolving auger scoops up the snow and forces it out through a chute, sending it 20 or 30 feet away.

Size of the bite the thrower will take will vary from 16 inches to 48 inches and prices vary with sizes. Prices vary with other factors, too, and these are features which you will have to decide on.

One feature that is very important is the discharge chute. Do not settle for one that throws the snow in only one direction. The wind can throw the snow right back where it came from unless you can adjust the chute. Most will adjust for right or left discharge; better ones have adjustable angles for greater control. If self-propelled, are there several speeds? Can it reverse? These become more important with increasing size. With no room to turn around it's rough to drag back a heavy unit to turn it.

Blades Need Wheels
Snow blades should be powered independently of the wheels. This permits you to bite away at a snow bank without moving in and out. Better units have the engines protected from snow and ice. As with power mowers, there are a variety of starting systems—more important in the winter when engines get stiff and balky. Some models have provisions for electric starting.

Ask if there is a safety-slip clutch or at least shear pins that will prevent damage if the blades pick up some solid object.

In respect to picking up stones and sticks, snow throwers are as dangerous as lawn mowers. Don't let the kids play in the shower of snow.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Just when it seemed that ABC's "Stage 67" was one of the season's most disappointing and oversold series, it surfaced with a really imaginative and unusual hour of television, with Wednesday night's "Evening Primrose."

It was a modern fairy story, with all that implies, plus occasional pauses for song — sweet, romantic and poignant songs, too. But it was the idea, based on a short story, and its execution that were impressive.

A disillusioned young poet, played by Anthony Perkins, attempted to retreat from the harsh world by hiding in a department store by day. Then, instead of having the whole store to himself by night, he finds it is inhabited by a group of elderly people, including one grand old lady who has been there since the Taft administration.

They live, formally and well, when the store is closed, and during the busy days, escape notice by posing as mannequins.

All these night people are villains who ruthlessly call in the fearsome "dark men" when anyone wants out of their strange world. The dark men are also night creatures who live in a nearby undertaking establishment.

The heroine, a pretty appealing girl named Charmian Carr, played the maid of the oldest of the night people, and had been a slave and unwilling prisoner for 13 years. It seems that when she was six, she wandered away from her mother who was trying on hats, and found herself in the hands of the right people who would never let her go.

Much of the show's charm lay in the fact that it was filmed — at night — in one of the large New York City department stores.

Bob Hope, in the topical monologue that opened his NBC comedy show Wednesday night, was the victim of the convenient practice of pre-taping programs. Although most of his wisecracks concerned California politics, his windup consisted of some jokes about the President's surgery — and he referred to it as if it would take place in the future, instead of some hours before the program went on the air.
